Dr. RICHARD M. SUTTON

Physics Leader Lectures Here

March 31 and April 1, Dr. Richard M. Sutton, chairman of the department of physics of Haverford College, Haverford, Pa., will be on campus to present two lectures dealing with the physics field.

Dr. Sutton is widely known among college instructors for demonstration lectures.

At 4 p. m. Monday, March 31 in the physics lecture room, 203 Moseley Hall, Dr. Sutton will address the staff of the College of Liberal Arts on "Physics is of the Liberal Arts."

Monday evening at 8 p. m. in 141 Chemistry Bldg., Dr. Sutton will lecture on demonstration materials in physics entitled "Ert Minds and Inert Matter."

Dr. Sutton is the author of the book, "Demonstration Experiments in Physics," and co-author of the Heath text, "College Physics."

"American Men of Science" lists many biographical facts concerning Dr. Sutton; principally:

Phi Beta Kappa; in 1940, president of the American Association of Physics Teachers; presently a member of the Board of Governors of the American Institute of Physics; member of the Franklin Institute; and a Fellow of the American Physical Society.

Primarily interested in teaching, Dr. Sutton states that he "has no highly specialized interest in physics, because 'general physics' occupies most of his time and thought."

Jacobson Presents Proportional Representation Plan To Senate

Senator Hal Jacobson's proposed plan of representation in Student Senate was discussed at Senate meeting Monday night.

Jacobson's plan, presented at the last meeting of Senate, would divide the campus into four groups: fraternity men, sorority women, independent men and independent women.

These groups would be represented on Senate by proportional representation.

This discussion concerning various methods of representation is in connection with proposed changes in the Student Senate constitution, now in the hands of a committee.

Katherine O'Connor, chairman of the elections committee, reported that tentative dates have been set for the campus elections. Tentative plans include having all class elections on the same day.

All elections will be conducted under the revised rules set up by the elections committee in October.

At the suggestion of Bill Bittner, member of the Student Union committee, Senate voted to dissolve the present Student Union committee. A new committee will be formed through applications of students.

Bittner proposed that the present committee be dissolved because it was too large for the amount of work to be done. The original committee of six was enlarged into sub-committees last year when there was a possibility of getting a Student Union in the near future.

Senate voted to give recognition keys to student senate members, student court members, and advisers who have not received keys before.

The constitution of Delta Psi Kappa, women's physical education honorary, was accepted.

Four One-Act Plays Presented In Gate By Directing Class

"Balcony Scene" is directed by Mary Pacey, and Fred Meeks, Alice Musser, Shirlee Musser, Joseph Facsko, Victor Young, Carol Lasing, Marcia Carlsen, and Jack Mullen are in the cast.

"Andante" is directed by Carolyn Knepper. The cast includes Hal McGrady, Doug Dickson, Clair Knepper, Vivien Crawford, and Joy Heestand.

"John Doe" is directed by Jack Mullen. Henry Turek, Dick Hoffman, Ken Shoemaker, Maxine Brown, Rudy Pringle, David Freedheim, and Harry Featherstone are in the cast. Marilyn Silver is the assistant director.

Copies Of '52 Key Pics Go On Sale

For the first time, pictures included in the Key, University yearbook, may be bought by students at an official sale. All pictures taken for this year's book will be sold sometime late in April in the Key office, according to Howard Hahn, yearbook editor.

If not enough copies of a picture are available to answer the demand, they may be ordered by students and picked up at a later date.

Editor Hahn also announces that all Key pictures are back from the engraver and in the hands of the printer. This means that the yearbook will be distributed according to schedule around May 10 to 15.

Student Room Of Nest Open For Dancing

Students will now have dancing in the Nest as the result of suggestions submitted to the Administration by the Student Union Committee.

The student room of the Nest will be open for dancing until 10 every night. The juke box has been moved from the main room and the student room has been cleared and arranged conveniently for dancing.

Mrs. B. James Wright, manager of the Nest, says that so far the plan has worked quite well. She hopes more students will take advantage of it.

The Student Union Committee was originally organized to work on the future Student Union. With the new Union far in the future, the committee remains active in projects for present campus improvement.

The dancing in the Nest is only one of the features of a plan to improve recreational facilities on campus.

Violinist Featured In Music Recital Here Sunday Night

Charles Gorsuch, violinist, will be presented in a senior recital Sunday evening at 8:30 in the PA Aud.

Mr. Gorsuch has served for the last two years as concertmaster of the University String Orchestra and the University Symphony. This year, in addition to his University work, he has taught music in the high school at Weston, O. The young musician's violin study at the University has been under Gerald McLaughlin. Mr. Gorsuch's home town is Vanlue, O.

His program for Sunday evening will include "Sonata in A Major," by Handel; "Concert in D Minor," by Wieniawski; "Spanish Dance No. 3," by Sarasate; "Allegro," by Fioco and "Ballade and Polonaise," by Vieuxtemps.

Margaret Wepler will be the accompanist.

Road Improvements To Be Undertaken If Bids Acceptable

The road to the Fine Arts Bldg. and the Main Drive in front of the Ad Bldg. may be blacktopped late this spring if good bids are received by the University and the Director of Public Works of Ohio.

According to business manager, Ervin J. Krescher, the Department of Public Works rejected all bids for road improvements last fall because they were too high.

Blacktop would also be applied to the diagonal runway at the University Airport if the bids are acceptable.

In Our Opinion

Campus Appearance

Campus beautification is probably one of the more shop-worn causes annually espoused by college editorial writers over the country. But we feel, in spite of this fact, that improvement of campus grounds is a theme well worth reiterating, for the campus is the front-line show case of any university.

Alpha Phi Omega annually conducts a "keep off the grass" drive in the spring, a campaign which in the past has had varying degrees of success depending upon student response to pleas on the signs and the effectiveness of the fine system.

This year, however, University officials, apparently tired of replanting the grass in the same places each year, are putting obstacles at some of the more foot-worn corners and paths. Shrubbery is being transplanted by maintenance employees to such locations as the west lawn by the Natatorium and favorite cut-across areas around Sorority Row.

These shrubs should certainly help. But we are also very glad that someone finally recognized the fact that sidewalks were drastically needed in many places. With a little cooperation from the students now in using the sidewalks more and grass less, the campus won't look like a back lot.

While considering campus improvements, can anything be done about the drain in the circle that is so plugged up that the least shower floods that area for hours?

The aims of this newspaper shall be to publish all news of general interest to students and University personnel, to guide student thinking, and to exist for the betterment of this University.

LETTERS TO The Editor

Dear Editor:

Your awareness of the errors in my last letter shows an improvement in the usual decorum of this newspaper. You are to be congratulated for printing my letter of criticism and thereby showing that you are not afraid to lay open such topics before the students but I wonder if it is ethical to rationalize away shortcomings by holding up to ridicule the comments of an impartial observer. My remarks were intended as friendly suggestions, and I had hoped that they would be taken in the spirit in which they were offered. Bowling Green students are very proud of their newspaper as, indeed, they are of the University. But no matter how good something is, it can always be improved, and the students like to see improvements in the B-G News just as they like to see improvements in the University. Thank you for the opportunities of voicing my opinions.

Sincerely,
Carl Balson

Dear Editor:

It is the purpose of a newspaper to inform, to influence, and to entertain. These three functions are common to most free newspapers, and no one will dispute them. Furthermore, it is the duty of a newspaper to be objective, to be a seeker of truth, and to be a propagator of justice. These ends are accomplished by workers and editors who are intelligent, unbiased, qualified systematic, accurate, and reliable.

Reader Carl Balson, in last Tuesday's issue, stated that he felt that the B-G News was neither efficient nor accurate, in terms of what it should and could be. He noted a few discrepancies, and he objected to the policy of having (unqualified) students write criticisms on plays, concerts, etc. In his opinion, correction of these small but important details would improve OUR newspaper.

However, in the editor's note to that letter, there appeared an unmistakable implication that reader Balson is stupid and/or doesn't know what he is uttering (since he had "some 13 errors in spelling and punctuation.")

That reply delineates the editorial attitude of the 1951-52 News. In lieu of maturely thanking the reader for his efforts, apologizing for the mistakes, and resolving to do better in the future, the News directs the attack to the individual and not to the question. A newspaper has a right to answer its reader's criticism, but it does not have the right to attack the individual in place of the criticisms.

This has occurred previously, especially in the Frank Kraft-Student Senate dispute. That particular editorial was characterized by loaded words, non-objectivity, and unfairness. This attitude was especially evident in the editor's note to the letter in which an East Hall resident gave his opinions on the case.

It is my opinion that the persons responsible for these injustices re-examine and re-evaluate their attitudes and policies. Give this matter serious and rational thought and ask yourselves these questions:

New Arrangement For Dancing
In Nest Approved By Students

BY BARBARA HOFFMAN

A new arrangement, whereby students may dance, chat, and drink cokes in the back room of the Nest, was completed March 17, when an additional juke box, small tables, and chairs were placed in the room.

Several students commented favorably on this new use for the room.

"It's about time that dancing was made available to the students," stated Nancy Brown, sophomore. "The back room of the Nest is now open and the ideal spot."

According to Ken Losey, sophomore, "The campus really needs some type of recreation in the Nest; it's a great idea."

Annie Repp, freshman, thinks "the new set-up in the back room of the Nest is great."

"It's a terrific idea for the enjoyment of the students," according to Ardith Marshall, sophomore. "Possibilities are great for new acquaintances."

Betty Weber, sophomore, said, "It might be a good idea for during the evening, but during the day there usually isn't enough room in the Nest to sit down."

David Martin, senior, imagines "that there are a sufficient number of people who gather in the Nest and who have the desire to get up and dance to make the plan a success. The very fact that it is located in the back room makes it very convenient in view of the fact that the dancing may prove obnoxious to those who care only to sit quietly with their coffee and talk."

(1) Am I doing right?; (2) What am I gaining?

Sincerely yours,
Abe J. Bassett

Dear Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to compliment you on your brilliant comeback with regard to Mr. Balson's letter. We wish to point out that for your department, we consider it a remarkable achievement for you to find one error, let alone thirteen of them.

As further consolation to you, we would like to forward a little food for thought. If as much time were spent on self-criticism as was apparently spent in finding fault with Mr. Balson's letter, it would never have had to be written.

Your comeback could have been perfect had you not conveniently lost the entire meaning of the letter. His misadventure did not dwell on grammatical error, but on factual error. If you could have confined your comment to factual error as Mr. Balson did, your comeback would have been worthwhile.

Grammatical accuracy and factual accuracy are not to be confused. A grammatical error is not uncommon, even in journalism, but a factual error, which you seem to be unaware of when you make such statements as, "Complete accuracy can be very elusive at times," is inexcusable. Your confusion of these two points shows lack of proper reasoning.

Yours for better reporting,
Fred Durig

AFROTC Changed
To Air University

The Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corps, including Bowling Green's unit, has been placed under the administration of the Air University, with headquarters at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala.

Transfer of the Air Force ROTC program, which was previously under the command of the Continental Air Command, will be effective Aug. 1, according to Air Force headquarters at Washington, D. C. Headquarters were previously at Mitchell Air Force Base, Long Island.

The purpose of the change was to consolidate and centralize control of the program, in which 110,000 students at 187 colleges and universities in the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico participate.

Chimes Located
In Ad Bldg. Room,
Run By Electricity

The bells, which control the activities of all students on campus from the time they get up until they have to be in at night, are located in a small room on the ground floor of the Ad Bldg.

The chimes are comprised of two sets—a group of 25 note English bells and a set of 61 note Flemish bells.

These bells are about the size of a pencil with the largest weighing four ounces. However, their sound may be heard for four miles under favorable conditions through an amplifying system located in the bell tower atop the PA Bldg.

Electrically controlled, the chimes may be automatically or manually operated. They are played by means of a roll player functioning like a player piano, or on the organ console in the University Aud.

The bells are heard every hour from 6:50 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Sunday afternoon concerts on the Flemish bells are played by Dr. James Paul Kennedy of the music department, or by means of records.

An auxiliary hookup enables the amplifying system to be used for public address purposes or for special occasions.

Literature For You
Presented By WBGU

A series of 10 programs entitled "Literature for You" is being presented by the University radio station. Each program is scheduled for 7 to 7:15 p. m. Wednesday.

The programs consist of talks on literature made by faculty members of the English department. The first talk was given Wednesday, March 26, by Fredrick R. McLeod, instructor in English. It was called "Literature—why do we read it?"

The remainder of the series will consist of discourses on poetry and novels, several poetry readings, and a panel discussion.

Official
Announcements

Catalogs for the 1952 Summer session and the 1952-53 Graduate School are available in Graduate School's Office.

Seniors in the College of Education who have made application for teaching certificates are to report to the Registrar's Office between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. beginning March 31 to check the certificate and pay the statutory fee of $1 per certificate.

Girls now living in Urschel Hall who desire to make reservations for the fall term 1952 must call at the office of the Dean of Students Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday, March 31, or April 2, to sign for rooms.

Magnetic switch failure in the complicated electronic control system is the chief cause of improper functioning of the unit. It is then that the bells do not ring.

The bells, installed in 1948 at a cost of more than $30,000, were dedicated by the Alumni Association in honor of 69 former University students killed in World War II.

Richard Flockencier, of the special service staff, is in charge of the upkeep and maintenance of the system.

JV Cagers Drop Tournament Tilt; Falcon Netters Face 9-Match Schedule

By FRED COFFEY

Coach Ray Whittaker's junior varsity cagers saw their season end a little sooner than they had planned Monday night as Willys-Overland of Toledo upset them 32-30 in the first round play of the Toledo Federation Tournament.

Sparked by former Toledo University stars, the Overland squad used a slow, possession-type of offense to defeat the Bowling Green five. Their refusal to speed up the game or take many shots at the hoop were the two factors responsible for the low score of the game.

The loss automatically ended the season for the JV's since the tournament was the last item on this year's schedule.

Coach Whittaker's charges turned in an excellent record for the season, as they won 24 and lost 6. Besides Monday's loss, they dropped three games to Martin Parry, were beaten by Baer Field, and lost a 50 to 48 overtime game to Ben Brew of Columbus in the state AAU Tournament at Dayton earlier this month.

Martin Parry seemed to have the junior varsity's number all year, as they came out on top in three of the four meetings between the two squads.

Boasting such former Falcon stalwarts as Jim Knierim, Leo Kubiak, Bob Conroy, and Bob Long, they edged the Little Falcons once by four points, and on another occasion by only a single marker.

The Martin Parry five was also the main reason that the junior varsity didn't take top honors in the Toledo Federation League where the JV's played under the title of the Art and Iron Works.

The BG cagers, whose league record was 8 and 2, finished second in the Federation. Both of their losses were to the league winning Martin Parry five.

Out of the 30 games the junior varsity played, six were against other collegiate JV teams. Coach Whittaker's boys won all of these encounters as they downed Toledo twice, Tri-State, Defiance, Bliss, and Ohio Wesleyan.

Final statistics show that the Little Falcons scored 1,833 points this season, for an average of 61 points a game.

Phil Sekerchak, six-foot, two-inch sophomore forward, took most of the scoring honors for the team. He scored the most points during the year as he dumped in 381 tallies, and he had the highest game average with a 12.7 mark.

He also scored the most points in a single game as he swished 26 against Defiance, and he was high scorer in the AAU Tournament at Toledo where he scored 82 points in five games.

Don Robinson, who played the other forward position, scored 363 points in season play for a 12.1 game average.

"We're going to play to win." This is what Coach M. Harold Mickle told the candidates for the varsity tennis team at their first meeting March 25 in the Men's Gym.

Seventeen men were present at the meeting; practice began the next day. Mickle is going to have a 10 man squad which will be determined after the elimination matches, which will begin in a few weeks, are over.

Mickle, who is Bowling Green's new tennis coach, has coached tennis for seven years in Michigan high schools. He wants his players to display good sportsmanship at all times and play a fast, powerful, game.

Scribes Place Gerber On All-Ohio Second String

Jim Gerber, Bowling Green's record-breaking pivotman, gained more basketball honors this week when he was named to the INS second-string all-Ohio team.

Lanky "Gerb" averaged 20.6 points a game in 27 games this season for a total of 555 counters. He set a game scoring record against Baldwin-Wallace with 41 points, and his 221 field goals for the year also set a new mark.

Guard Jerry Kempter received honorable mention rating on the INS squad; he was second to Gerber in scoring with 303 points.

Eight of the 15 men chosen on the first three squads were opponents of the BG cagers this past season.

First INS team choices included three Falcon opponents from the University of Dayton, NIT finalists, and one of the starting teams in the NCAA tournament this year. Outstanding in this trio was Don Meineke, Flyer center, who was almost a unanimous choice of INS sports writers for the "Outstanding College Basketball Player of Ohio" rating.

Others from Dayton were guard Leland Norris, husky six-foot, one-inch, 220-pound captain of the Flyer squad, and Chuck Grigsby, six-foot, five-inch forward who proved his worth in a tough stretch in Dayton's schedule by scoring the winning basket in the waning seconds in three straight games. One of these games was the Bowling Green-Dayton battle, won by the Flyers 70-68. Others were against Toledo and Louisville.

Phil Martin, Toledo's hotshot forward who received a guard spot because writers felt he couldn't be left off, was the other Bowling Green opponent to make the starting five. Gene Smith, captain of Xavier University's Musketeers, rounded out the first team.

Along with Gerber on the second team were two players from teams played by the Falcons this year. Jim Knodel, five-foot, ten-inch guard from the Miami of Ohio quintet which drubbed Bowling Green 70-56, and Percy Grenfell from Kent State, who is said to have one of the greatest assortment of shots in college basketball, held down the second team guard positions. Bowling Green dumped Kent 89-79, but Grenfell got 19 points.

Others on the second string were Jim Holstein from Cincinnati and George Dalton of John Carroll.

The third INS team included Dick Retherford, Baldwin-Wallace's outstanding pivotman, and Dick Walls, Miami center who was put at the guard position to make room for Retherford. Rounding out the third team were forward Mike Magulo, Youngstown, and Xavier cagers Huck Budde, forward, and Tom Simms, guard.

Wrestling Meet To End Tonight

Weigh-ins began yesterday afternoon for the University intramural wrestling tournament. The first round of elimination matches was held last night, with more action scheduled for this afternoon.

Final matches will be held this evening in the Men's Gym.

Georgia's Rules Of '27 Tighter Than BGSU's

BY MARGE GEE

Ever hear your mother complain about strict rules when she was in school? Excuse the triteness, but she was born 30 years too soon . . . Read these rules from the Red and Black of the University of Georgia 1927 vintage.

1. No co-ed could attend a dance before consultation with her house-mother, and even then was required to be back in the dorm 15 minutes after the dance was over.

2. On Sunday the girls were marched to and from church, and any conversation with men students was forbidden. 3. (And best of all!) Housemothers kept yardsticks behind the door to measure the girls' hemlines from the floor.

Coeds at Alabama College were questioned concerning their plans for leap year. Read some of their excited comments.

"I've got a plan but no man."

"So what? I have to do all the chasing anyhow."

"I've already proposed to my man and given him a diamond engagement ring."

"I got accepted and it scared me to death, so I backed out."

"I'm taking Home Ec and getting educated. I'm also taking hygiene."

A tip to potential business men—follow the lead of one tycoon at the University of Texas. He found himself in need of dough, so decided to go into the used book business. Where did he set up shop? Smack in front of the U's two main book stores.
